

OIC Planning Book 19 December 1952

PSYCHOLOGICAL INTELLIGENCE SUPPORT

The broad field of research in the Social Sciences, inclusive of intelligence, has been the subject of the Lormis study. DD/I has indicated to the PSB that State and CIA will provide machinery to improve this situation.

25X1

25X1

1. The State Department has submitted a proposal for an interdepartmental committee on psychological intelligence and research for the informal comment of DD/I (which was given prior to recent trip) and RDB The latter, it is reported, feared that if this were procedured simultaneously with the proposal for an RDB committee to coordinate its external research (as I believe was suggested by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would tend to frustrate both of these since they really wanted neither.

The latter, it is reported, the proposal research (as I believe was suggested by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrate both of these since they really wanted neither.

The latter, it is reported, as I believe was suggested by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrate both of these since they really wanted neither.

The latter, it is reported, as I believe was suggested by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrate both of these since they really wanted neither.

The latter, it is reported, as I believe was suggested by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrate both of these since they really wanted neither.

The latter, it is reported, as I believe was suggested by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense agencies would be frustrated by Mr. Becker), the Defense age

2. The exchange of correspondence between State and CIA and from DCI to Defense treated under the External Research portion of this book is of course relevant to this problem.